

Lorne Gunther is an enthusiastic leader whose talents employ a unique blend of personality and life experiences in both the secular and non-secular environments. Lorne actively consults with non-government organizations to include schools, churches and other non-profit organizations to determine their security risks, and develops solutions to mitigate those risks through a strategic partnership with the Rampart Group.

As a former Pastor of 15 years, Lorne has valuable insight and a unique understanding of the challenges church leaders face in the quest to provide an open and welcoming environment, while at the same time protecting their congregations and physical assets. Having served in construction management for over 38 years, Lorne also brings a wealth of knowledge and experience necessary to assist businesses and organizations in safeguarding their facilities and surrounding properties. He has successfully chaired advisory boards with city management teams, all while developing solid working relationships with City and Government officials.

Lorne volunteers his time to a number of domestic and international non-profits, and has also served on the 45th District Advisory Board to the Legislature on Domestic Violence, State of Washington.
